

Soapbox Car

Did you never have the chance to play with soapbox cars when you were a child - or do you just want to freshen up on the experience and feel the wind in your hair once again?

You now have the opportunity to participate in your very own race where you, of course, have to build your own soapbox cars.

We offer an experience that you will never forget. Our "toolbox van" will provide each group with a starter kit. Based on the starter kit each group will have to build their own unique soapbox car.

Of course, we have some extra gear so that the group can put their unique stamp on the cars. Our experienced judges will continuously evaluate the cars and give points for aesthetics, coolness and technical finesse. Are you sure that the wheels go the right way around and how aerodynamic is the car design? Your best mechanic skills have to be found!

When the soapbox cars have been built, the real competition will begin!

Here you will race against each other on a specially designed racetrack.

The winner of each heat gets pole position, so it is important to be ready to go and keep your driver instinct alert.

When the race has finished we will announce the winners and celebrate with champagne and medals.

This teambuilding event gives you the opportunity to have a fun and creative day. It is perfect as a half day activity - e.g. before your company summer party.

We look forward to build and race with you!
